

About the Cover

A young man walks back from his mother's plot at the Kasisi Agricultural Training Centre in Lusaka, Zambia. The irrigated plots were part of a Canadian funded project to increase access to land and provide agricultural education for smallholder farmers. Their project focused on growing indigenous vegetables organically to improve family nutrition while at times earning additional income.

Photo by Mara Sanders - January 2018